ABOUT US

Arunodaya University, established by the government of Arunachal Pradesh under "Arunodaya University Arunachal Pradesh Act 2014 (Act No. 13 of 2014)" vide notification No. LAW/LEGN-7/2014 is new entrant in the education sector of the country and a collaborated initiative of Softkey Education Society and the Government of Arunachal Pradesh. Arunodaya University comes under section 2 (f) of UGC act which empowers it to award degrees specified in section 22 of UGC act of 1956. Apart from this, the University is authorized to award Diplomas, Degrees, and Certificates, UG, PG and other academic distinctions in conformity with the provisions of the Arunodaya University Act.

Arunodaya University offers skill development programs as an essential approach to education, providing students with real world experience in a professional environment. This practical approach is crucial in India, as it ensures the effective use of educational resources while developing human resources for traditional classroom teaching covers theoretical knowledge, Arunodaya University enhances this with practical skills, offering a contemporary model that combines classroom instruction with hands-on training. This method gives students a competitive edge, preparing them for their chosen industries and making them more adaptable to real world challenges.

Furthermore, the University emphasizes skill development with in-hand training, aligning with the Government of India's current policies on youth employability. Interactive classroom teaching will be supplemented with web-based resources, enabling students to access learning material not only from Arunodaya University but also from leading institutions worldwide.

CONCEPT

Social sciences play a vital role in understanding the complexities of modern societies. In a constantly evolving world, it becomes essential to examine the ways in which social, cultural, political, and economic structures interact. The seminar on "Understanding the Dynamics of Social Sciences in Contemporary Society" seeks to address the growing need for a comprehensive understanding of how social sciences contribute to the analysis of contemporary issues and societal transformations.

The seminar will explore the interdisciplinary nature of social sciences, examining how various fields such as sociology, psychology, economics, political science, and anthropology contribute to understanding and solving current global challenges.

OBJECTIVES

1. To examine the significance of social sciences in understanding contemporary societal issues, including economic, political, cultural, and social dynamics.
2. To highlight the interdisciplinary nature of social sciences and how different branches (sociology, psychology, economics, political science, etc.) converge to address modern challenges.
3. To understand how social sciences contribute to analyzing social change, development, and the evolution of contemporary societies.
4. To explore how advancements in technology and digital media influence social structures, relationships, and cultural norms in modern society.
5. To promote critical thinking among participants on pressing social issues such as inequality, governance, migration, and globalization from a social science perspective.

Sub Theme of the Seminar:

- Indigenous Faith and Belief System
- Role of Race, Ethnicity, Religion, and Identity Politics in Voting Patterns
- Determinants of Political Participation
- Gender Stereotypes: Expectations in Different Cultures
- Feminist Pedagogy and Inclusive Curricula
