Anti-Ragging Awareness Programmes

Organized by: Department of Law, Arunodaya University at Conference Hall, Block – A.

On August 12, 2025, the Department of Law at Arunodaya University, Lekhi, Naharlagun, Papumpare District, Arunachal Pradesh, organized an Anti-Ragging Awareness Programme in the Conference Hall, Block A, from 10:00am to 11:30am. The event aimed to educate the 45 participants, including students, faculty, and staff, about the harmful effects of ragging, relevant laws, and safety measures. The well-structured program was engaging and informative, leaving a strong impression on all participants.

The event began with the gathering of students, faculty members, and staff in the Conference Hall. Mr. Atih Tekseng, Assistant Professor, Department of Law, delivered the welcome address. He warmly greeted the audience and highlighted the significance of the programme in promoting a ragging-free campus. His speech emphasized the university's commitment to student safety and well-being, encouraging everyone to actively participate in the session.

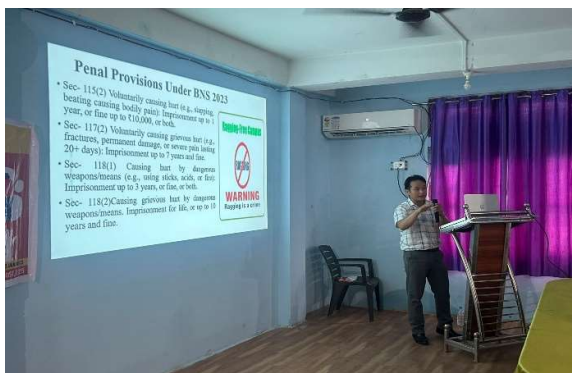

Shri. K.K. Jha, Deputy Registrar, shared inspiring words with the audience. He spoke about the importance of unity and respect among students and urged everyone to follow the university's anti-ragging policies. His motivational words inspired students to create a friendly and supportive campus community.

Ms. Licha Yania, Assistant Professor, Department of Law, presented a detailed overview of ragging and its negative effects on students. She explained how ragging can harm students' mental and physical well-being and shared real-life examples to highlight its seriousness. Ms. Yania also discussed the University Grants Commission (UGC) guidelines and anti-ragging laws in India, making the legal aspects easy to understand for everyone.

Mr. Kapil Kodak, Assistant Professor, Department of Law, gave an insightful talk on the criminal provisions related to ragging under Indian law. He explained the legal consequences of ragging and provided practical guidance on how to stay safe on campus. Mr. Kodak also taught the audience how to write a First Information Report (FIR) and shared details about a safety kit that students can use in emergencies. His session was highly interactive and informative.

Ms. Mantu Acharjee, Head of the Department of Law, concluded the programme with a heartfelt vote of thanks. She expressed gratitude to the speakers, organizers, and participants for making the event a success. She reiterated the university's zero-tolerance policy towards ragging and encouraged everyone to work together to maintain a safe campus. The programme ended with light refreshments served to all participant.
